- Q.2 Read the following paragraph and draw one key finding and one strong conclusions. You are also required to give title of this paragraph:

Poverty is continuously reflecting in our daily life. Rural people are further hard hit with the poverty whereas city dwellers are no exception as well. In deed employment opportunities are shrinking down in general and government is completely unable to address with the daily living and livelihood maintenance of rural as well as city people. People argue in different way to have this situation. Some critiques say, it is largely due to government's poor plan and policy to support people's livelihood. Other says it is due to lack of industries and transformation from agriculture to industry sector that would largely create employment. Some other further argue that people's livelihood is being measurable due to international flow of goods and objects that has crumbled domestic production system. It is hard to follow any specific argument about the current scenario, but people's livelihood options are getting worse and narrow day by day.

- Q.3 Formulate one general and two specific objectives to reflect the following research title:
"Youth employment opportunities in commercial vegetable farming in Chitwan"
- Q.4. What is 'urbanization'? Also describe the impact of urbanization in rural agriculture.
